REPORT

On

Research Centre "KrishiVigyan Kendra (KVK), Baramati"

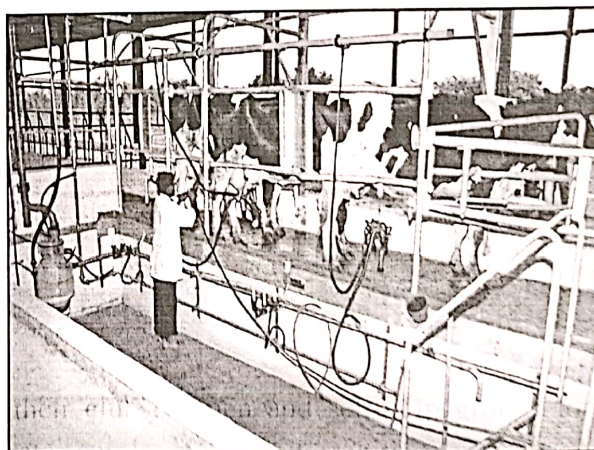

KrishiVigyan Kendra, Baramati is a district level Farm Science Center established on 1st August 1992 under the affiliation of Indian Council of Agricultural Research (ICAR), New Delhi at Agricultural Development Trust Baramati District Pune. KVK Baramati is Model, Hi-tech & National Award winning KVK of India working for farming community since 24 years for the development of sustainable agriculture. The operational area of this KrishiVigyan Kendra is up to the 7 tehsils of Pune district. The aim of KrishiVigyan Kendra is to reduce the time lag between generation of technology at the research institutions and its transfer to the farmer's field for increasing production, productivity and income from the agriculture and allied sectors on a sustained basis. In order to achieve this goal, four mandates have been envisaged in the design of the KrishiVigyan Kendra.

After visiting the KVK Baramati Mr. Santosh Godase has given the information about the KVK and after that he shows the different research unit which is situated in the KVK.

Fruit Processing Unit

It aims to give practical trainings to the farmers, their clubs, women and self-help groups for value addition of their horticultural produce, to generate employment opportunities and to develop entrepreneurship among the rural youth, to give practical trainings to the extension functionaries, officers from agricultural department, KrishiVigyan Kendra's and Non-Government Organizations and to promote the value addition in horticultural produce.
